To Whom It May Concern:

The purpose of this letter is to serve as a recommendation for Anuj Wahi. Anuj has worked for GE Transportation Systems, Erie, PA, U.S.A as a marketing co-op for the fall semester of 2003.

Anuj worked on two long-term projects with us at GE. He was given the responsibility of assisting one of the product managers in managing a database for the international fleet of various traction motors. The managers and general managers used this database during the marketing review meetings. Anuj dedicated himself to the task and produced a product we will use again and again. The fact that he is always willing to run that extra mile to get any task done shows that he will be an asset to any organization.

During this internship, Anuj was also responsible for performing the decision analysis on whether to scrap an old part or not. Anuj has done a commendable job on this front too. While executing this responsibility, Anuj faced opposition from part buyers within the company. But he handled them admirably by being persistent yet polite. He has maintained and updated information from the Oracle database to my satisfaction.

Anuj is of a pleasant disposition, respectful towards his colleagues and well liked by the rest of the team. Anuj also maintains a high code of integrity and has a strong work ethic I would be happy to recommend his case for employment with any corporation.

Sincerely,

James G. Siplon

Manager, Locomotive Parts Marketing & Sales
